Make Healthy Changes (In Your Kitchen)

For good healthy meals and snacks offer your family plenty of fruits and vegetables and make sure your family is physically active every day.

The amount of fruits and vegetables that is right for you depends on your age, gender, and physical activity level. View the Recommended Cups of Fruits and Vegetables chart on pages 4 and 5 to find out how many cups of fruits and vegetables each person in your family needs.

Don't forget to be active, too! Being physically active gives you more energy. It helps lower stress. California Grapes

Fresh California grapes are available from May through December. There are more than 50 varieties of grapes, and they come in three colors: green, red, and purple.

Storage and Handling

Grapes are fully ripe when they arrive at the supermarket. Look for plump grapes with green flexible stems. Rinse with cold water when ready to eat.

Fresh California grapes can be stored for up to two weeks in the refrigerator.

Preparation Suggestions

Grapes make a great snack all by themselves, but they also work well as a tasty and nutritious ingredient. Try them in:

- cereal or yogurt for breakfast
- a salad for lunch
- a simple pasta salad for dinner
- a fruit salad for dessert

Grape History and Fun Facts

In 1839, William Wolfskill planted California's first table grape vineyard in the Mexican colonial pueblo now known as Los Angeles. California's fresh grape farmers provide 97 percent of the nation's commercially grown table grapes.

California Peaches, Plums & Nectarines

California grows more than 60 percent of the nation's peaches, and more than 90 percent of its plums and nectarines. California peaches, plums, and nectarines are available from May to October.

Selection Tips

When selecting peaches and nectarines, look for an even yellow background color with no green around the stem.

The red color on peaches and nectarines is eye-catching, but it does not tell you if the fruit is ripe. Different types can be very red or not very red at the same level of ripeness.

Look for plums with a little give when squeezed and a sweet plum smell. Ripe plums can be many different colors, so a little give and a good smell are better signs of ripeness than color alone.

Storage and Handling Tips

Firm peaches, plums, and nectarines can be ripened at home by placing them in a paper bag or fruit bowl until they reach the desired ripeness.

Once the fruits are ripe, they can be stored in the refrigerator. Never place unripe fruits in the refrigerator as the cool temperature will stop them from ripening.

See page 48 for the Savory Grilled Fruit recipe, which is courtesy of the California Tree Fruit Agreement.

California Avocados

Many people think that the avocado is a vegetable, but it is a fruit. California avocados are available year-round and make a great-tasting addition to any meal or snack.

Storage and Handling

Avocados are ripe when they give a little to gentle pressure when placed in the palm of your hand. Ready-to-eat avocados can be stored in the refrigerator for several days. Put unripe avocados in a brown paper bag with an apple to help them ripen.

Preparation Suggestions

Try California avocados in salads, as a spread, as a baked potato topper, or in the ever popular guacamole.

Fresh avocado on sandwiches and toast instead of mayonnaise or butter may help lower the amount of calories, fat, saturated fat, sodium, and cholesterol in your meal.

Sprinkle cut avocado with lemon juice or white vinegar to stop them from turning black.

See page 30 for the Avocado Tortilla Soup recipe, which is courtesy of the California Avocado Commission.

California Pears

The California Bartlett pear is the nation's leading pear variety. California produces 60 percent of the nation's total Bartlett pear crop. California Bartlett pears are available July through November. The Bartlett turns from bright green to yellow during ripening.

Bartlett pears have many nutrients, including important vitamins and minerals. They are an excellent source of fiber, contain no cholesterol or sodium, and are low in fat.

Storage and Handling

Always ripen California Bartlett pears in a bowl at room temperature. Once they have reached desired ripeness, place them in the refrigerator to slow further ripening. Green and firm pears will take four to six days to ripen at room temperature (do not refrigerate). Pears that turn from green to yellow and lose their firmness are ready to eat in two to three days. When pears are golden yellow, they are at their ripest, juiciest, and most flavorful stage.

Preparation Suggestions

- To help cut or sliced Bartlett pears keep their color, dip them into a mixture of 1 tablespoon lemon juice and 1 cup water.
- A ripe but firm Bartlett is perfect for poaching or baking.
