

Nutrition Pantry Program

The Nutrition Pantry Program (NPP) provides a process for creating easy, client-focused strategies for a health-focused environment in all types of food distribution sites. This program was developed by Leah's Pantry, and UC San Diego ACTRI Center for Community Health is an implementing partner in San Diego County. We are pleased to offer free assistance to your pantry to help your clients be healthy, feel seen and heard, and know they matter!

To become a pantry site for 2022-2023, please complete and sign this form. Your signature means you acknowledge participation is free and agree to work with us to support your pantry. Participation requires regular communication between us and someone who can make decisions for the pantry. You also agree to actively work towards making healthy changes for your site. We're looking forward to working with you!
